From a late London Paper.

AN INVASION SKETCH.

If there be one person so lost to all love of his country, and the British constitution, as to suppose, that his person or his property, his rights and his freedom, would be respected under a foreign yoke, let him contemplate the following picture—not overcharged, but drawn from scenes afforded by every country; Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, which has been exposed to the miseries of a French invasion.

LONDON, 10 Thermidor, Year —.

Gen. Bonaparte made his public entrance into the capital over London bridge, upon a charger from his Britannic Majesty's stables at Hanover, preceded by a detachment of Mamelukes. He stopped upon the bridge a few seconds to survey the number of ships in the river; and, beckoning to one of his aid de camps, ordered the French flags to be hoisted above the English—the English sailors on board, who attempted to resist the execution of this order, were bayoneted, and thrown overboard.

When he came to the Bank, he smiled with complaisance upon a detachment of French grenadiers who had been sent to load all the bullion in waggons, which had been previously put in requisition by the Prefect of London, Citizen Mengaud, for the purpose of being conveyed to France.
The Directors of the Bank were placed under a strong guard of French soldiers in the Bank parlour.

From the Bank the First Consul proceeded in grand procession along Cheapside, St. Paul's Ludgate hill, Fleet street, and the Strand, to St. James's Palace. He there held a grand Circle, which was attended by all his Officers, whose congratulations he received upon his entrance into the capital of these once proud islanders.
Bonaparte, previously to his arrival, appointed two prefects, one for London and one for Westminster. Citizen Mengaud, late Commissary at Calais, is the Prefect of London, and Citizen Rapp of Westminster. He also nominated Citizen Fouche to the office of Minister of Police. The Mansion house has been selected for the residence of the Prefect of London, and Northumberland House for the residence of the Prefect of Westminster.
As it has been deemed necessary to have the Minister of Police always near the Person of the First Consul, Marlborough House has been given to Citizen Fouche.
Lodgings have been prepared elsewhere for the late owners of that splendid Palace.

London was ordered to be illuminated, and detachments of French dragoons paraded the principal streets and squares all night.

11 THERMIDOR.

Bonaparte, at 5 o'clock in the morning reviewed the French troops on the Esplanade at the Horse Guards. A Council was afterwards held, at which the following Proclamations were drawn up, and ordered to be posted in every part of the city.

BY ORDER OF THE FIRST CON-SUL.

Proclamation.

St. James's Palace.

Inhabitants of London, be tranquil.
The Hero, the Pacifator is come among you. His moderation and his mercy are well known to you. He delights in restoring peace and liberty to all mankind.
Banish all alarms. Pursue your usual occupations. Put on the habit of joy and gladness.

The First Consul orders,

That all the inhabitants of London and Westminster remain in their own houses for three days.

That no molestation be offered to the measure which the French soldiers will be required to execute.

All persons disobeying these orders, will be immediately carried before the minister of Police.

(Signed)

BONAPARTE.

The Minister of Police, FOUCHE.

PROCLAMATION.

TO THE FRENCH SOLDIERS.

Soldiers! Bonaparte has led you to the shores and the capital of this proud island.
He promised to reward his brave companions in arms. He promised to give up the capital of the British empire to pillage.
Brave Comrades, take your reward. London, the second Carthage, is given up to pillage for three days.

(Signed)

BONAPARTE,

AUGEREAU,

The Minister of War per Interim.

The acclamations of the French solidiers—Vive Bonaparte—le Hero—le Pa-cificateur—le Magnanime—resound thro' every street.

12th, 13th, 14th THERMIDOR.

London Pillaged! The doors of private houses forced. Bands of drunken soldiers dragging wives and daughters from the arms of husbands and fathers, and violating them publicly. Many husbands who had the temerity to resist, butchered in the presence of their children, Flames seen in a hundred different places bursting from houses which had been set fire to by the vivacity of the troops; Churches broken open and the plate pil-laged; The pews and altars converted into stabling; Four Bishops murdered, who had taken refuge in Westminster Abbey. The screams of women and children mix with the cries of the soldiers —Vive la Republique! Vive Bonaparte!
St. Martin's church converted into a depot for the property acquired by the pillage of the soldiery.

15th THERMIDOR.

A proclamation published by the first Consul, promising protection to the inhabitants.

The houses of the principal Nobility and Generals appropriated to the use of the French Generals. Every house is required to furnish so many rations of bread and meat for the troops.

At a Council of State, presided by Bonaparte, the two Houses of Parliament are solemnly abolished, and ordered to be replaced by a Senate and Council of State.
General Massena is appointed President of the former, and General Dessades of the latter. The Courts of Law are directed to discontinue their sittings, and are replaced by military tribunals.

16 THERMIDOR.

A contribution of twenty millions ordered to be levied upon London. A deputation was sent to Bonaparte to represent the impossibility of complying with the demand, the Bank and the capital having been pillaged. After waiting in the anti chamber of the consul four hours, the deputation are informed by a Mamelue guard, that Bonaparte will not see them. Two hundred of the principal citizens are ordered to be imprisoned till the contribution is paid.

17 THERMIDOR.

A plot discovered by Fouche against the First Consul, and three hundred, supposed to be implicated in it, sent to the Tower.

Infurrections in different parts of the capital on account of the exactions of the soldiers and of the contribution of twenty millions. Cannon planted at all the principal avenues, and a heavy fire of grape shot kept up against the insurgents.

Lords Nelson, St. Vincent and Duncan, Messrs. Addington, Pitt, Sheridan Grey, twenty Peers and Commons among the latter is Sir Sidney Smith, tried by the military tribunals for having been concerned in the insurrection against France and sentenced to be shot. Sentence was immediately carried into execution in Hyde Park.

18 THERMIDOR.

The dock yards ordered to send all the rimber, hemp, anchors, masts &c. to France. The relations of the British sailors at sea sent to prison till the ships are brought into port, placed at the disposal of the French Detachments dispatched to the different countries to disarm the people.

The Island ordered to be divided into departments and military divisions; the name of London to be changed for Bonaparte polis; and the appellation of the country to be altered from G. Britain to that of La France insulaire, Edinburgh to take the name of Lucienville, Dublin, that of Massen polis.

of vision will be gratified with a sight of the greatest phenomenon, which ever presented itself for the investigation of the Curious.

A perfect LUSUS NATUREÆ.

Just arrived in this city, a male Animal of the Baboon Species, by name, REPUBLICANOS DEMOCRATICOS

He is a native of Africa, born in Dahomy, an inland country of Guinea. Although he first inhaled the vital air within the territory of the most despotic monarch the world has ever known—he knows of no attachment to either despotic, monarchic, or aristocratic principles. On the contrary, he has, long since, imbibed the le-sons of genuine, unalloyed democracy, from a conviction, that an enlistment under its banners is the only sure road to preferment now a days—for he is not altogether devoid of ambition, although belonging to the beast genus. He is a much more perfect resemblance of the human species than the Orang Outang—his face being perfectly free from unbecoming hair, and his nose very much inclining to the Roman!!
He has a fine head of remarkably black hair, so long as to admit of its being tied, and walks as upright as most men, who are blessed with a becoming stoop. He is about five feet eight or nine inches high, is habited as a man, is a man, in point of intellect, in short, in every thing, except the power of speech, a deficiency which he unceasingly bewails as the occasion of much unhappiness to him. He is fifty years of age—has never been afflicted with an hour's indisposition—never wants an appetite—or needs an anodyne—and yet he is miserable, for he cannot speak.

Having given a tolerable description of the exterior of our African Baboon, we will now attempt to give some account of his uncommon endowments, and incredible acquirements, although we are conscious it is not in the power of language to do any thing like adequate justice thereto.

He writes French with the accuracy and elegance of a Rousseau or Voltaire—understands Italian grammatically—writes poetry, in English, which would not suffer by a comparison with that of the illustrious Pope—is a master of the Latin, Greek, and Spanish languages, and intends very shortly to enrich the world with a more elegantly literal translation of the Bible than any extant. He is induced to do this merely to evince his superior abilities as a Hebrew scholar, for he glories in declaring that he is not a Christian!!! In fact, he is positive he can prove to the satisfaction of all reasonable men (i. e. the democratic part of the community, they only being acquainted with the real meaning of the word "reason") that the Bible, is nothing more or less than the work of certain designing men, who lived in the time of Vespasian. He is, over and above, an able financier!!! having resided ten years in Geneva, for the benefit of his education, and studied under that extraordinary man, who has done himself immortal honour, by having been tutor to the now S—y of the U. S. And although to be candid, he was not as great an adept in that lucrative science as Mons. G—n, justice to himself requires it should be known, that his master has frequently declared him superior to every other of his scholars. He glories in having been intimately acquainted with the illustrious family of the G—ll-s, and will relate to those companies who may honour him with a visit, (by aid of pen) sundry anecdotes respecting them, which cannot but prove very interesting to all native Americans.
But the grandest of all his grand qualifications is yet to be enumerated. He possesses, in perfection, the gift of prophecy.
Stange as it may appear—it is nevertheless strictly true—that he has never, as yet, proved himself a false prophet, although he has been father to prophecies innumerable!!! He will gratify the generous public of Charleston with a trifling specimen of his abilities in this line of his profession.
Let this his prophecy be written, with "a pencil of Steel, upon a tablet of Brass," it merits it, for it will come to pass.

Latin, his party; and the honorable Thomas Pain, his party. Much confusion will result therefrom. Eventually the strife shall be decided by his excellency T.
J—n, in favor of Thomas Pain!!!
The democrats hearken unto him; and Thomas Pain is elected Vice President of the United States. The constitution will then be newly modelled, and made to assume a much more democratic form. But this will be so admirably managed, as not to encroach the hundredth part of an inch upon the power or influence of the deserving idol of the democratic part of the people of America. One trifling amendment, or additional article, to the constitution, will relate to foreigners, and enable them to take the oaths of citizenship immediately after they will have landed in the U.
States. After the alteration of the constitution takes place, every federalist will, without ceremony, be removed from office.
And, in order to out those judges professing federal opinions, trumped up impeachments will be resorted to. The forms of justice will be so far adhered to, as to blind the eyes of the enlightened people of America; and, as a vast majority of both Houses will be decidedly democratic, they will, to a man, be removed from office, and their important stations filled by good democrats, well qualified to discharge the duties attached thereto. All these changes will have taken place before the month of January, 1808; a month which will prove fatal to Mr. J—n: for, in the course of it, his career of earthly glory will be put a final stop to, by a peripneumony!!! That dread disease will cause the best and greatest man in the world, to take a trip to "that awful bourne whence no traveller returns." The office of P—t will then devolve upon Thomas Pain,— who will immediately deprive the few remaining christians (who will have, perchance, holden offices under Mr. J—n) of their share of the enticing loaves and fishes. And Deism shall flourish throughout the land." Thus says the true prophet.

Republicans Democraticos.

crat and the Devil, and behold this eighth

WENNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7.

The Monitor (Monitor) of Paris is stuffed with gasconade and hyperbole, about the threatened invasion of England.
This paper is to Bonaparte, what the Aurora was to Jefferson.

Deception appears to be nearly exhausted, and invention upon the stretch, in devising fresh allurements for the devoted Monitors, who are to attempt the dangers of the British channel. It would raise the smile of contempt, in any person the least acquainted with the history of England, to read a pretended dialogue between a Frenchman and an Englishman, in Paris, on the facility of avoiding the British fleet in this favorite attempt. The former sums up with great industry every instance in which an invading force succeeded in effecting a landing, from the time of William the 2nd to that of William the third, a period of about 500 years.
Hence Monsieur draws his conclusion that nothing is more easily achieved, than the landing his army on the British shore, while at the same time he appears to forget that the invasions alluded to, were in no instance successfully made by his countrymen, under the hopes of universal conquest. In the time of John of England, a cruel bloody prince, who without doubt murdered young Arthur his nephew and rightful heir to the crown, a few Frenchmen, headed by the Dauphin, landed in England under pretence of asserting Arthur's claim; but finding master Louis aimed at the crown for himself, the Britains sent him back again. From this time, to the landing of William the 3d, for it could not be called an invasion, England was constantly imbroed in civil wars, and one or the other of the contending princes being exiled, the unfortunate would often raise a party sufficient to erect his standard, and again land in England—and these transactions are in a northern party paper, enumerated as invasions. The Frenchman in his conclusions does not appear to remember that in the day of King and had no navy, for the first English man of war, of any force worth recording, was built in the reign of Henry the 7th, and called the Great Harry, and which was not of the force of a frigate of the present times.

The first serious hostile attempt upon England by a foreign enemy, was in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, with her then infant navy, she destroyed the famed Spanish Armada, before a single Don could be landed.

Bonaparte, it is true, escaped the British fleet, though in pursuit of him up the Mediterranean; but at length his fleet was destroyed by Nelson, and he again escaped back in a small vessel, which passed from its insignificant appearance. Since he has had recourse to the priests, it appears that he considers himself still the favorite of Providence, whether Mussel-man, or Catholic, or Deist. There has been too much said about this mighty invasion—but the French, from the days of old, were mighty talkers, and though they have been every war for a hundred years past threatening, it is not yet done, and, what is more, depend upon it reader, with advantage to them—it never will.

It may be remembered, that there was an account given, some time ago, under the Norfolk head, of four men, being taken out of an American vessel, by the Andromache frigate, who were all declared to be Americans; and that one of them by the name of Thomas Johnson, swam on shore at Hampton Roads; which occasioned a considerable sensation in the public mind. This man has since been in the jail of this county; and acknowledged he was an Englishman; that his name was Thomas Cunningham; and that the other three who were taken out of the American vessel at the same time, were Englishmen.
If there is any doubt as to the verity of this statement, the matter may be ascertained by proper enquiry. And yet this business was represented as a daring violation of the American flag, on the part of the captain of the British frigate; with what truth and justice will now appear from the foregoing account.

Anti-Demo.

That the public may perfectly comprehend the amount of specie to be paid by our government for the purchase of Lou-ISIANA, it may be well to present to their view, its magnitude by other representations than by numerical characters.
Instead of stating, that it cost us 15,000 000 dolls, let us, to be better understood, observe, that if the whole number of dolls. to be paid, were piled one upon the other that they would create a column, towering in the clouds, of twenty six miles in height. If laid flat wise, in a straight line, they would extend from Baltimore in Maryland, to Albany in this state (N. Y.) or three hundred and fifty five miles.— If paid in quarter dollars and placed the same way, they would make a line longer than the distance from New York to Charleston in South Carolina, or nine hundred and forty seven miles. If in cents, they would belt five times round the U. nited States, or 24,000,242 miles. If spread upon a level piece of ground, so as that each dollar should touch the other on every side, they would be found to cover five acres and a half of land; and if we suppose that fifteen million to be carted from our Treasury to be sent to France, and allowing one thousand weight as a load for a waggon, and one pair of horses, we would require seven hundred and fifty waggons, and fifteen hundred horses to convey them. (Balance.)

It was often said, in the late war, that France took Holland for her milch cow; that cow has been milked almost dry.
Another Republic is taken into Buonaparte's dairy—distendunt udera lacta. It is said the milk of this single season will be worth 15 millions of dollars, as will appear on the 17th of October next. This is more than the value of the milk of the Alpine, and Swiss cows, as they have lately had very-dry pasture.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, GUILDHALL.

SITTINGS BEFORE LORD ALVANLEY.
SOCIETY OF ODD FELLOWS.

Lyon v. Martin and others.

This was an action to recover a compensation in damages for an assault committed on the plaintiff.

Mr. Shepherd observed, that a more ludicrous case had seldom come before the court; yet no man's eccentricities are to be exercised to the injury of another, the plaintiff was justified in complaining of the gross assault he had received. The plaintiff was the most Noble Grand of a Society denominating themselves Odd Fellows. The defendant Lord Warden of the same society, whose dignified station promoted him to the office of Candle Snuffer. The society was formed entirely of Jews, and met at the sign of the Bell, in Middlesex-street, Porticoat lane, but if they were always accustomed to such conduct as was witnessed on the night of the assault he had to complain of, they were odd fellows indeed, and should be pointed out in order to be shamed. In the midst of their mysterious proceedings, the noble Grand moved, that a trustee should be appointed to take care of their Exchequer; but as there did not appear to be more funds than was necessary to reimburse the landlord for expenses incurred, the Lord Warden and the Vice Grand objected; an altercation ensued, the Noble Grand insisted it was his province to keep peace and harmony, but in his efforts to obtain his end, he got his head cut with a pot, and was laid senseless on the floor.
A general confusion ensued, in which all distinctions were laid aside, and many a combatant was laid upon the floor of his club room, to the great injury of the plaintiff and his companions, and the annoyance of the neighbourhood.

The assault was proved, and the plaintiff got a verdict for 20s damages.

SOLOMON says, a virtuous woman is a crown to her husband. By this rule, the most valuable of the sex is only worth five shillings. Port Folio.

A heavy complaint has been made against the authors of modern romances, full of ghosts, spectres, and murderers.— The young ladies are so frightened, as to be afraid to sleep alone. Ibid.

Ten Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the plantation of Lawrence Lewis, Esq. Fairfax county, on Friday the 19th inst. a Negro man named PETER:

He is about 22 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 10 inches high, rather slender made, very dark complexion; has a large scar on one of his legs, occasioned by the cut of a scythe last harvest; the wound not perfectly cured: his clothes not recollected, but believe nothing more than a common Negro cotton jacket and trousers. He was seen in Alexandria last Saturday, and is supposed he is now in that place. All masters of vessels and others are cautioned against harboring or carrying off said felon at their peril. The above reward will be given for securing him in any jail so that I get him again, or upon delivering him to the subscriber, with all reasonable charges paid.

GENUINE PATENT JAUNDICE

BITTERS,

A MEDICINE extremely useful when Jaundice and Bilious Complaints are so prevalent among the citizens of America and the West Indies. They are a useful and efficacious Medicine for curing Jaundice and Bilious disorders, and removing that sinking, faint, distressed feeling at the stomach, difficulty of breathing, loss of appetite, and sleep, full heaviness in the forepart of the day, weakness and trembling of the limbs, dizziness of the head, and yellowness of countenance, complaints so common to jaundice and bilious people.

Also removing constipation of the bowels, obstructions of urine, choleric complaints, pukings and purgings, indigestion, sick head ache, rheumatic complaints, &c. (which arise from a collection of four, bilious matter in the stomach) and at length restoring the constitution to strength and vigor.

They are also found very useful to carry off worms, and cure ricketty children, and may be used with safety in all constitutions, ages and sexes.

The many cures that have been effected in New England, by the above medicine, (as may be seen in the bills) prevent the necessity of further recommendation.

LIKEWISE,

Wheaton's Patent Ick Ointment.

The only medicine in the world which will certainly cure the ITCH, without having in it any thing either dangerous or disagreeable; it being composed mostly of ingredients never before discovered or used in that disorder. One box cures a person, and there need be no waiting after the use of it, as the skin is generally left cleaner and smoother after the use of it than before.

A VALUABLE MILL

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber wishes to sell his MILL, known by the name of Clinton Mill, within two and a half miles of Dumfries, on the waters of Quantock, which is as constant a stream as any in this part of the country, and in an exceeding healthy situation; very conveniently situated to a fine wheat country, not being more than half a mile out of the way, in going to Dumfries, from the main road leading from Fougrie Court House, Centreville &c. (and by some thought not any out of the way at all) and a very good road to it. There are, if the purchaser chooses, 22 1/2 acres of land which may go with mill, (except one acre which will be reserved) or a smaller quantity as may be agreed on. The mill is an over shot, with a wheel of 20 feet 9 inches and 4 feet head, with two pair of Stones. One pair of French burrs of 5 feet, the other of Colons, with every apparatus necessary for carrying on merchant business to the best advantage. The mill is 50 feet long and twenty seven feet wide, two stories high, with a small kiln for drying corn, together with barn, stable, cow house and lumber house, convenient to the mill. A convenient dwelling house, (not quite finished) with a kitchen, meat and corn house; the whole of which have been built within 7 years past. There are two very thriving young orchards of peach and other fruit trees. It was supposed, had not the frost killed the fruit this spring, upwards of 100 gallons of brandy might have been made from them. Should the whole of the land be required with the mill, there is another small house, kitchen and meat house, at a short distance from the former.

The situation of this property must render it a desirable acquisition to any person inclined to engage in this line of business, particularly so as it is situated to near tide water. It is deemed unnecessary to say any thing more respecting the premises, as it is presumed any person inclined to purchase would wish to see them. Nothing would induce me to part with this valuable property, but the pressing demands against me which I am anxious to discharge, therefore a great bargain may be expected. Any further information may be known on application to,

JOHN SOWDEN, Clinton Mill.
